England 1966-1971 photo Compendium BOOK A

Introduction

This set of compendiums are about the family living in Banbury, England. Prior to England, the family lived in Roswell, New Mexico. In November 1966, Hans received orders to be stationed in Upper Heyford, England, United Kingdom and late December 1966 the family began to move to Banbury, England.

First the family went to Wisconsin to visit Helga's relatives, then they went to Germany. There they also visited relatives and went to Ischgl Austria for a skiing vacation. By late January 1967, the family moved into 50 Pinhill Road, Banbury, Oxon, Great Britain.

This compendium is different than other compendiums. Helga put together two detailed album with plenty captions and extra information, and these two albums are in compendium A. Compendium B has additional photos that did not make it into Helga's albums. They are grouped by the page numbers from Helga's albums. Compendium C are the photos from Subjects that did not make Helga's albums. Compendium D contains their travel photos.

From 3 November 1969 to 10 Dec 1970 Hans was stationed in Thailand and the family had to stay behind in England. Hans' experiences and photos from Thailand are included in a separate Compendium.

In late December 1970, Hans was assigned to Shaw Air Force Base in Sumter South Carolina. The family left England in late December 1970 or early January 1971 and they reunited in South Carolina.

HOUSING ACT

1. An occupier who causes or permits his dwelling to be overcrowded is liable to prosecution for an offence under the Housing Act and, if convicted, to a fine not exceeding five pounds. Any part of a house which is occupied by a separate family is a 'dwelling'.

2. A dwelling is overcrowded if the number of persons sleeping in it is more than the 'permitted number', or is such that two or more of those persons, being ten years old or over of opposite sexes (not being persons living together as husband and wife), must sleep in the same room.

3. The 'permitted number' for the dwelling to which this Rent Book relates is 15 persons. In counting the number of persons each child under ten years of age counts as half a person, and a child of less than one year is not counted at all.

4. The Act contains special provisions relating to overcrowding already existing on the above-mentioned date or which is due to a child attaining the age of either one or ten years after that date, or which is due to exceptional circumstances. Full information about these special provisions and all provisions as to overcrowding can be obtained free on application to the Local Authority whose address is

Medical Officer of Health for the District
MEDICAL OFFICER OF HEALTH
HORSFAIR
BANBURY
OXON.

The minimum period for notice to quit by either landlord (or his agent) or tenant is now 4 weeks: Rent Act 1957: section 16.

IT IS ENACTED.—That any Tenant or Assistant fraudulently removing Goods to prevent Distress shall pay the Landlord double the value of the Goods if under the value of £50. Complaints may be made to Two Justices, who are empowered to enforce payment, or sentence the offender to imprisonment.
